

agreement, Mr. Fielding said: "It promises prosperity to the people of Canada, and this house would make a grave mistake and do a grave wrong if it refused to take advantage of it."

"I have very strong hopes that President Taft will be able to overcome the opposition at Washington, but whether he succeeds or not, we in Canada will not be any the less doing well and our position stronger for all future negotiations."

"The reciprocity measure is so far-reaching," declared Mr. Borden, opposition leader, "that no man can tell what its consequences will be. For forty years we have been seeking and the United States has been denying reciprocity. And now, when their natural resources of timber, minerals and agriculture are being overtaken by the demands of their population, they turn to us."

Some of the results of the agreement which Mr. Borden foresaw were the abandonment of the British markets which Canada had built up with effort and treasure for forty years, the growth of commerce with the United States, which would eventually lead to commercial union with that country. He summed up the opposition position by declaring that Canada should follow the path of the nation trading without regard to the United States, whose favor of to-day might be withdrawn to-morrow.

AS WILSON SEES IT

Secretary of Agriculture Tells Grange Reciprocity Is Feasible

Washington, D. C., February 9.—"The pending reciprocity treaty with Canada will go some distance towards meeting the demands of the people at the last election without interfering with the policy of protection as applied to the whole world."

"This is the declaration of James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, in his answer on behalf of the Taft administration to the National Grange's declaration of opposition to the proposed agreement. The answer is in the form of an open letter, made public to-night, addressed to the legislative committee of the National Grange, Concord, N. H.

Secretary Wilson argues that the cost of production in the United States and Canada is more nearly identical than it is between the United States and any other country; that the same difficulties with regard to farm labor exist on both sides of the international line, and that Canadian and American farming methods are virtually the same.

"Our town population has grown much faster than our country population," writes Secretary Wilson.

"Prices for the necessities of life have been high, and wages, stipends and salaries have not kept pace with the increase in the price of food. There was a demand for lower tariffs during the last election by the population of the towns. That interest carried the election by default; the farmer either sympathized with the town dweller and stayed at home on election day and husked corn. A new Congress was elected along lower tariff lines, if it had any instructions from the people. The Republican party is a protectionist party; the Democratic party wants lower tariffs."

"There is quite an element in the Democratic party that believes in protection, and there always has been, and that may be the reason why that party favors this reciprocity treaty. That element in the Democratic party may be willing to go as far as this reciprocity treaty goes in letting the natural products of Canada into the United States, and that may be as far as a great many people in Congress and out of it think

THEATRES OF NEW YORK

Lead the World in the Number and Variety of Productions. ST. REGIS Convent to All.

In the number, beauty and convenience of its theatres, New York leads the world. The volume, variety and magnificence of New York's theatrical productions are all magnets that daily attract to the metropolis a vast army of strangers. These strangers must be housed and fed, and New York has risen to the occasion. The city is filled with mammoth and palatial hostels that are among the wonders of civilization. Some of these hotels—perfect, but mechanical and almost automatic in their service—are cold, even depressing, in their atmosphere. There is one hotel, the St. Regis, located at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, which has retained "homeliness" with its other advantages. Unequaled in its appointments and furnishings, with a cuisine surpassed by even the most famous foreign restaurants, the stranger is here surrounded by "home" atmosphere and "home" refinements, and his stay in New York, whether for a night or "the season," is thus made infinitely more enjoyable than is possible elsewhere.

The St. Regis restaurant has no superior in all the world in quality of food, skill in preparation and perfection of service, while the charges are no higher than those of other first-class hotels. Transient guests coming to New York and stopping at the Hotel St. Regis will find in every particular the very highest grade in every particular, and at standard rates. Single rooms are $3 and $4 a day; the same with private bath, $5 a day (or $6 for two people); while for a parlor, bedroom and private bath the rates are $12 a day and up.

Our bread has a homelike flavor. Best ingredients, improved facilities expert bakers are the "reasons why."

Rain Coats

for Men and Women

—Girls and Boys, too.
It is SO MUCH cheaper in the end to buy a high-grade rain-coat.

They afford real protection, look stylish, are full of comfort, and will outlast a half-dozen cheap rubber coats!

At last the women have a chance at the Mandelberg high-grade coats like the men have had for years, and they're here.

Men's Coats, $20 to $35.

Women's Coats, $20 to $28.

Boys and Girls' Coats, $12.50 to $15.

Rubber Coats, $3.50 to $5.00.

Rubber overshoes and dry-foot shoes.

Cost-Defying

It is necessary to go in modification of our statistics regarding importations from foreign countries.

"This treaty is not one-sided, giving our markets for meats and grains to the Canadians, with nothing in return. We get in the Canadian woods, 50,000,000 or more of bushels of lumber products very much needed as our home supplies are so much reduced that prices have gone up markedly in the last few years, and our development in the future will draw heavily on what remains. Much building has halted on this account."

"The Southern States have a new market for their cotton-seed oils, which will be valuable to them. Canada opens her doors to our fruits, which will give to our orchardists a growing market for their products. Fish comes into the United States free, which will mean much to the entire people as the opening of our markets to Canadian poultry products. We are to have free trade in seeds, which is well, because many seeds are more valuable coming from northern latitudes. We do not grow enough of flax to make our own, and the introduction of flax seed from the free introduction of flax seed, and that may be as far as a great many people in Congress and out of it think

"Reciprocity with Canada must be considered from a viewpoint somewhat different from that of a tariff act affecting our commerce with the entire world. Localities in both Canada and the United States will be opposed from real or imaginary reasons. But the development of either country as a whole calls for serious consideration from its statesmen."

"There is just as much opposition in localities there now to letting in American manufactured goods at lower rates as there is in localities on the American side to letting in Canadian farm products at lower rates or without duty. If the treaty creates a balance of the laws of both countries, our relations with Canada will become intimate, and our trade with her will extend and increase."

Secretary Wilson concludes that if the United States handles Canada's surplus of wheat and American transportation facilities will tend to reduce the price of bread to the American consumer. He suggests that the Canadians also will be able to furnish cattle feeders for the corn belt of the United States, and that trade will be reduced in prices by the treaty.

"These considerations," says Mr. Wilson, in closing his letter, "lead me to the conclusion that the adoption of the pending reciprocity treaty would, from an act of reciprocity, be as much an act of reciprocity to the United States as our common country more than half its present area."

Indorsement Refused.
Boston, February 9.—By a vote of 61 to 123, the Massachusetts House of Representatives to-day refused to indorse the proposed Canadian reciprocity agreement, which has been referred to a committee. This committee will hold public hearings and report its findings with recommendations.

Merchants Indorse It.
New York, February 9.—The Merchants' Association of New York, with a membership of 1,400-odd firms and 10,000-odd employees, has indorsed the reciprocity treaty. The association's indorsement was made in a preliminary statement to the approval registered yesterday by the New York Board of Trade and Transportation.

Copies of the resolutions and a statement of the vote have been sent to President Taft, the Senator from New York, Secretary McVeigh of the Treasury, Senator Shelby M. Cullom, chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance, and Representative Henry C. Payne, chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means, and Professor Henry Emery, chairman of the Tariff Board.

Elks to Erect New Home.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Danville, Va., Feb. 9.—The local lodge of Elks in this city is planning for the erection of a new home on the site of the present Colonial home they now occupy in the city district, but which is being used as a transient post-office. While the plans are yet in a preliminary stage, it is practically certain that the Elks will erect a building which will be of credit to the city. The building committee will make its report Thursday.

NEED PAVILIONS AT SANATORIUM

Health Department Could Care for More Patients Who Want Treatment.

NEW INFANTRY COMPANIES

State May Secure Portion of Unallotted War Department Funds.

In view of the increasing demand for accommodations at the State Sanatorium at Catawba, the State Health Department is rather hoping to hear of donations from philanthropic persons to permit of the erection of additional pavilions. Although the capacity has within the past two months been tripled, the institution is full, and there is a waiting list of about thirty. Some of these lives will probably be lost as the result of the necessary delay.

Cures of tuberculosis are necessarily slow, and for this reason vacancies are not frequent. It follows that many of those who are willing to help themselves by paying part of the cost of their maintenance and treatment, or who have friends who are willing to do so, must go without taking the cure.

The appropriation for new buildings has been exhausted. But if some person or some group were to build pavilions, the State Health Department could probably take care of the rest of the expenses. As the attendance increases, the per capita cost constantly decreases, and with the appropriation for maintenance, supplemented by the payments from patients, the department can care for more patients than it now has. A pavilion, built and ready for use, with a capacity of sixteen, costs approximately $2,500.

NEW MILITARY COMMANDS

Applications From Towns Deferred for Lack of Equipment Funds.

Additional companies of infantry are likely to soon be enrolled in the Virginia Volunteers, provided the necessary equipment can be obtained from the War Department. While it is not the policy of Adjutant-General Sale to work for a large increase in the force until the existing commands are better equipped, he thinks certain localities should be considered, and that the regiments should be completed.

In addition to the new company at Leesburg, which is almost ready to be mustered in, and which completes the twelve companies in the first Regiment, there have come requests to be allowed to organize commands at Bristol, at Bedford, at Strasburg and at Winchester. However, General Sale has been compelled to defer action in these

News of South Richmond

South Richmond Bureau, The Times-Dispatch, 1209 Hull Street.

After evading the hand of the law for two months William Smith, a colored man of South Richmond, was yesterday captured and locked up in the Third Police Station. He was released last night on $25 bail to appear this morning in Police Court, Part 2, for trial.

On December 11 last Smith, it is charged, became angered with a one-legged negro named David Beamer, and proceeded to put David to sleep. When the latter came to he applied for a warrant, but Smith had skipped the country. David is said to have put up a good fight, tramping leg and all, but was no match for Smith.

Last night Beamer appeared in the police station and asked that the warrant be withdrawn, stating that the little boy was told this was impossible. It is not known whether Smith will be charged with murder, or whether he will be allowed to go.

While nothing was said in the police station, it is understood that the robbery broke into the Atlantic Coast Hotel, a violent watch is still being kept on all possible places of disposal of stolen goods, and developments are hourly expected.

In Oak Grove Court, many cases, both of a civil and criminal nature, are on the calendar for this morning. The court will convene at 10 o'clock, with Magistrate Cheatham presiding.

A. J. Sheffield, the Petersburg man, arrested two weeks ago on charge of being with drunk and disorderly, the Petersburg case, will be given a hearing.

With peddling, the picture dealer, charged to answer five separate accounts, will have his case proven against him he will be subject to a hearing.

Slow Getting Licenses.
Although the city officials were quick to respond to the call of the Southsiders for a supply of wagon and dog tags, the city of Washington Ward tax office, Assistant City Treasurer, reports that the taxpayers are exceedingly slow in getting their accounts and taking out the necessary licenses.

Only a few days remain before the expiration of the time limit set by law, when the penalty and the owners of dogs are likely to find their animals in the pound.

While months will elapse before the county election enough candidates have come out to promise a vigorous contest for the office of the county treasurer, the fight for the post of the hottest, as five candidates have already been named. Dr. J. P. Gilliam, and these men have each a host of supporters.

It has just become known that Judge J. M. Gregory, present Commonwealth's Attorney, will have to vacate before he can all his office another term. At least one lawyer has made it known that he will while he will oppose Judge Gregory, and published, one is expected within the next few days.

There seems to be no rumor of opposition to the re-election of the county representative to the Legislature, and Senator J. B. Watkins and Delegate W. B. Baker did fair to hold their seats without a struggle. Senator Watkins has served two consecutive terms. Baker is completing his tenth term of office.

Station Work Held Back.
Work on the new station for Washington Ward is being retarded by the weather, as the remainder of the work is almost entirely plastering. The new station, which is being built on the site of the old station, will be ready for occupancy by the end of the month.

As soon as the budget for this year, upon which the Council has agreed, is passed, the installation of a police telephone system will be undertaken and the Southern Bell telephone company will be contacted for this work about $10,000 is needed. Soon, too, the new men who have been added to the force, just how many is not known yet, and proper protection on the south side of the river will be bettered.

Police Commissioner Bradley, of Washington Ward, is holding out for seven of the thirty new men who are expected to be put on the force shortly, but his proposition is meeting with opposition from other wards of the city.

Prevented Explosion.
What might have been a serious affair was averted Wednesday night when the boiler of the Victoria Motion Picture Theatre, on Hull Street, going to its engine room, found the boiler valves shut off. While it is considered by the theatre authorities that the explosion of the boiler would have wrecked the building, it is the belief of the police that the boiler was done by a party of young men without accurate knowledge of the results.

The explosion would probably not have been so dangerous, for the boiler had only twenty pounds of steam pressure on, and the boiler room is situated in a rear of the theatre and separated from the auditorium by a brick wall. Broken pipes in the hall

"Dr. Miles' Nerve Completely Cured Our Little Boy of Fits."

A family can suffer no greater affliction than to have a child subject to fits or epilepsy. Many a father or mother would give their all to restore such a child to health.

"I am heartily glad to tell you of our little boy who was completely cured of fits. He commenced having them at 10 years of age and had them for four years. I tried many doctors and one specialist but all of them said he could not be cured, and Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve and Dr. Miles' Nerve Liver Pills made a complete cure. He is now hale, hearty and gay. It has been three years since he had the last spell. I shall give him a medal for his praise wherever I go. You are at liberty to use this letter as you see fit and anyone writing to me will gladly answer if they enclose stamp for reply."

matters until he can procure aid from the War Department.

Besides the allotment of military funds among the States there remains an unallotted portion which is available for special demands, in the following order: First, new units to make up complete regiments; second, machine gun companies; third, ambulance companies and field hospitals.

It may be possible that Virginia can secure some of these funds to equip the proposed commands and to organize the needed field hospital and signal corps.

REPORT OF LIBRARY

Monogram on State Seals and List of Copyrights Included.

Among the matter contained in the annual report of the State Library Board, which has just gone to the printer, is a monogram on the seals of Virginia, written by former Assistant Librarian, and is illustrated with the older and newer seals.

There is also a list of the copyrights registered in the Eastern United States Court of Virginia from 1770 to 1845, forming a valuable collection of names of Virginia authors and writers. This was accumulated during the days when copyrights were begun to be registered in the office of the Librarian of Congress.

Successful Revival.
Conversions are being made every night at the revival meeting being conducted by Rev. J. J. Wicker, pastor of the Leigh Street Baptist Church, and the crowds are conducting to the eloquent words of the speaker.

The regular choir of the Halpin Street Baptist Church, which has been conducting a series of musical services, has been increased for these meetings until the total number of voices now reaches thirty.

Waltham Funeral To-Day.
The funeral of Charles P. Waltham, who died Wednesday at his home on East Broad Street, will be conducted this morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Central Methodist Church. Rev. H. C. Croft will conduct the service, and the burial will be in Maury Cemetery.

Members of Joseph E. Johnston Camp of Confederate Veterans are requested by "Square H. A. Jordan" to assemble at 10 o'clock this morning at the residence of Sergeant Saunders in the courthouse. After passing resolutions of respect the camp will hold a social gathering at the home of its last resting place.

Bury Mrs. Roper To-Day.
The funeral services of Mrs. Elizabeth Roper, who died Wednesday morning in her home on Third Street, will be held to-day at 10 o'clock at the cemetery.

Personal and General.
The engagement of Miss Agnes Drewry, daughter of Mrs. Alice Drewry, of Chesterfield county, to John de Ford, of Baltimore, has just been announced. The date for the ceremony has not yet been fixed.

Mrs. D. O. Lancaster, who has been ill at her residence in Oak Grove, is recovering from her illness.

George W. Brown, twenty-three years old, who died at his residence, 201 East Broad Street, on Monday, was formerly a resident of South Richmond. The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the Baptist Church. The interment will be in Maury Cemetery.

The "tacky" party, for the benefit of the Clio Street Baptist Church, was a success in spite of the unfavorable weather. The program was given, and refreshments served. Mrs. J. Williamson, who has been ill at her home, 402 West Fourth Street, has been removed to the Virginia Hospital.
